Endless Night

Halloween storyline of the Principality of Treviso. Saturday, November 7, 2026, non-sanctioned event.

Banned cards

Soul Gem of Etrius is not allowed.

Raising the dead

Two face-down piles sit in the middle of the table: one of Zombie and Mummy allies and one of Wraith allies. A ready vampire you control can take a recruit action to raise the top card of a pile:

- Zombie and Mummy: remove the top card of your library from the game, then draw the top card of that pile.
- Wraith: remove the top card of your ash heap from the game, then draw the top card of that pile.

The drawn ally enters your ready region. Always use the card's base text and ignore the card's requirements and costs: the only cost is the card removed from the game. If it is burned, it is shuffled back into its pile. If a pile is empty, no dead of that kind can be raised.

Limit

You can have as many dead in play, among Zombies, Mummies and Wraiths, as there are Methuselahs still at the table. When a Methuselah is ousted, anyone over the new limit chooses which dead to keep and immediately removes the excess.

The Shroud is thin

Leave torpor and rescue from torpor cost 1 blood. This is a fixed cost: no other effects that increase or decrease it apply.

Nobody really dies

Burned vampires do not go to the ash heap but to their owner's uncontrolled region, with no blood. Cards and counters on them are discarded.

Night of masks

Stealth and intercept only count when they come from cards already in play. Action modifiers and reactions do not provide stealth or intercept.

Outcome

Regular standings. The winner becomes Keeper of the Endless Night.
